- German Hospitalitytech company signs 50 new units in flagship project in Amsterdam Sloterdijk
- limehome will take over former aparthotel in flagship mixed-use building
- Property is expected to go live this summer

Munich/Amsterdam, 6 June 2024. limehome, Europe's leading technology-based provider and operator of fully digitalized design apartments, is expanding its portfolio in the Dutch capital with a new property in Amsterdam Sloterdijk.

50 new units will be available to guests in Gatwickstraat right next to Amsterdam Sloterdijk station. The location is characterized by its direct connection to Amsterdam Centraal, other Dutch cities, and its proximity to Westpoort, Netherland's second-largest business district. Spread over four floors, all apartments will offer fully equipped kitchens.

The limehome apartments are part of the Ven Amsterdam building, one of the city's flagship mixed-use properties. A large convention center, fitness centers, concept stores, restaurants and social spaces are available to visitors. limehome will take over an existing property that is currently undergoing a soft refurbishment to bring it to the limehome standard.

"Amsterdam is one of the most popular destinations for city trips in Europe and is also a driving force behind the Dutch economy. Its diverse culture and strong economic profile are great incentives for us to continue expanding our presence in the city and the Netherlands as a whole," says Evy De Groote, Expansion Manager Benelux at limehome.

The opening of the new limehome is already planned for this summer. With this project, limehome once again demonstrates its expertise as a reliable partner in the property sector and reaffirms its commitment to creating high-quality and sustainable accommodation concepts.
